Productive Automatic Layer Chicken Cage System Easy

Installation

Farmrob's products have fully automatic systems like feeding and drinking system, allowing for a consistent and reliable water and feed supply for your chickens. The size of troughs is suitable for layers with high strength and high anti-corrosion performance. The nipples have special structure to prevent leaking.

A major benefit of our layer rearing system is its exceptional efficiency. The innovative cage design optimizes space utilization, ensuring a comfortable environment where chickens can thrive. This results in both higher egg production and improved overall flock health.

The story height is 700mm. The top net is 13-15cm away from the fecal belt. Farmrobs refined environmental control design and devices selection guarantee chickens can breathe fresh air and feel even light, which can greatly reduce the stress rate.

Farmrob can provide you reliable equipment and customized solution. Farmrob is No.1 layer equipment market share in China. Top 3 poultry equipment industry. We have serviced over 5000 customers. So our mature technology can maximize the benefits.
