Product DescriptionOptimized Layer Chicken Cage System for Chicken Uniformity*Advantages

Farmrob is committed to being chicken-oriented and provide durable and reliable products.

Additionally, our poultry rearing systems have also achieved aesthetic appeal with smooth surface and scientific layout. It incorporates advanced technology to optimize poultry welfare and productivity.

Ideal for both poultry rearing and egg production, it ensures a secure, sanitary, and highly efficient environment for your chickens.

Centralized and streamlined management, combined with the automated control of feeding, drinking, manure removal, climate control, and lighting systems, significantly reduces labor demands. This integrated automation not only enhances productivity and improves working conditions but also keep chickens healthy and boosts feed conversion efficiency.

The cage frame system uses Al-Mg-Zn plate(Zn thickness 275g/m², Al11%, Mg3%) and Al-Zn wire(Zn thickness 275g/m², Al10%) with corrosion resistance performance and high strength, comprehensive use for 15-20 years.

Cage rearing systems promote greater flock uniformity compared to floor rearing, while also facilitating easier observation and efficient identification of sick birds. Our cages are designed to provide equal and ample access to feed for every bird, while maintaining a consistent feed depth throughout the trough.
