Product Description

Optimal Egg Collection Layer Chicken Cage System for Algerian Farms

Farmrob has established a 120,000m² manufacturing facility with six specialized workshops for metal, mesh, machining, welding, assembly, and electrical controls. We provide poultry farmers with customized, high-quality solutions for commercial layer operations.

System Overview

Our H-Type Layer Chicken Cage System maximizes space efficiency while promoting hen welfare. The innovative design reduces stress, improves egg yields, and maintains flock health. Each system is customized to meet specific farm requirements regarding:

- Farm scale and chicken breed specifications
- Optimal space planning
- Lighting and ventilation requirements
- Safety and stability considerations

Egg Collection System Features

The advanced egg collection system maintains a clean, stable egg supply with minimal maintenance:

- Reliable lift mechanism prevents breakage
- Integrated filter removes defective eggs
- High-friction PP egg belt resists stretching
- Central conveying system transports eggs directly outside
- Reduces labor costs and bird contact

Key Advantages

- Centralized management for efficient resource use
- Even feed distribution maintains flock uniformity
- Cage and manure system ensures comfortable environment
- Optimized energy efficiency increases production rates
- Automated control system manages all operations

Support & Services

Our comprehensive support ensures optimal system performance:
