Product Description

80000 H-type Layer Chicken Cage System with Superior Rust Resistance in the UAE Farms

The H-type chicken rearing equipment is increasingly being adopted in modern poultry farming. The H-type model is better suited for large-scale operations with 20,000 hens or more, offering excellent rearing conditions and more efficient management than A-type cages.

Cage Frame System

Our cages are available in two sizes (1.8m x 0.65m or 1.26m x 0.65m) and feature:

- Construction from Al-Zn alloy welded mesh for superior rust resistance
- Smooth, burr-free surface for bird safety
- Middle supports made from high-strength Al-Zn-Mg alloy sheet for enhanced durability
- Elasticized wire meshes for bird comfort and soft egg landing
- Open design ensuring optimal ventilation throughout the system

Automatic Manure Removal System

Our advanced manure removal system maintains fresh air quality and improves flock survival:

- Belt system runs smoothly with high-efficiency motors
- Injection molded driving roller prevents belt deviation
- Front spiral roller removes accumulated manure
- Soft, replaceable double scrapers clean belt without damage
- Belt support with raised edges contains manure and prevents spillover

Egg Collection System

Our automated egg handling system ensures gentle, efficient collection:

- Eggs automatically transported by friction-based belts
- Specialized design prevents egg collisions
- Automatic egg lift for stable operation with minimal failure rate
