Product Description

10-Tier Layer Chicken Cage System for Efficient Farm Management

Farmrob's layer equipment creates a safe, low-stress habitat, combining anti-aging materials with scientific design. This delivers superior structural integrity and proven corrosion resistance, which directly contributes to reducing equipment failure rates and minimizing lifetime maintenance costs, thereby maximizing your long-term profitability.

Key Features

Complete Automation: Precision feeding and drinking, automated manure removal, seamless egg collection, and intelligent climate control drastically cut labor expenses and optimize workforce efficiency.

Durable Construction: Constructed with Q235 Al-Zn alloy steel wire in an optimized grid pattern for exceptional corrosion resistance and extended service life exceeding 25 years.

Reduced Capital Expenditure: H-frame design enables higher stocking density, lowering land requirements per bird and reducing overall investment at equivalent production scale.

Reinforced Middle Support: Professional laser cutting and bending techniques create strong bearing capacity with hard deformation performance using Mg-Al-Zn alloy surface.

Fully Automated Systems

- Automatic feeding system
- Automatic drinking system
- Automatic egg collection system
- Automatic manure removal system
- Automatic cooling and ventilation system
- Automatic control system
